What do you guys do up there??

When someone asks about Freemasonry, the same concepts invariably come up. So let's address each briefly.

Secrecy:

The secrets of Freemasonry are concerned with its traditional modes of recognition. It is not a secret society, since all members are free to acknowledge their membership. Its constitutions and rules are available to the public. There is no secret about any of its aims and principles. Like many other societies, it regards some of its internal affairs as private matters for its members.

Religion:

Freemasonry is not a religion, nor is it a substitute for religion. It is open to men of many religions, and expects them to continue to follow their own faith. Although Divine aide is often solicited, Religion is not discussed.

Politics:

Freemasonry is non-political, and the discussion of politics at Masonic meetings is forbidden.

Relief:

Freemasons are taught to practice charity, and to care not only for their own, but also for the community as a whole, both by charitable giving, and by voluntary efforts as individuals. From its earliest days, Freemasonry has been concerned with the care of orphans, the sick and the aged. In addition, large sums are given to national and local charities.

Leadership Protocols:

Masonic meetings are organized using a protocol of democratic principles, coupled with a centralized leader. The power entrusted to its leader is balanced, because it is absolute yet temporary. Members learn the lessons of good leadership, which begin by being good followers. When appropriate, members are advanced through a hierarchy of several duty stations, each with independent duties, one not overlapping the other, serving together at the will and pleasure of the presiding officer.

Truth:

Freemasons strive for truth, requiring high moral standards and aiming to achieve them in their own lives.

Brotherly Love:

Freemasons attempt to show tolerance and respect for the opinions of others, and behave with kindness and understanding to their fellow men.

In Summary:

A Freemason is encouraged to do his duty first to God, through his faith and religious practice; and then, without detriment to his family and those dependent on him, to his neighbor through charity and service. None of these ideas is exclusively Masonic, but all should be universally acceptable to any man wishing to better himself and his community.

Call To Work

I have recently been given the pleasure of updating and revamping the lodges web site. It has been an honor and a privilege and I thank you for allowing me the opportunity. In going over the material that I wished to include I have learned a great deal about Roy Stanley as well as this great fraternity that I love so much. There is however more to do and I call on all of my brothers for help.

It was my intention to accomplish two things with this project. Firstly to try and attract more good men to our lodge and into our Fraternity and to highlight and honor those that have gone before. I wanted to show the men behind the lodge that make it what it is. I wanted to show the world what Freemasonry was all about on a deep and personable level. It is to this end that I ask for you help. I would like everyone to dig through your old pictures and keepsakes and give me anything that you may deem appropriate. Pictures from past events, fund raisers, Masonic get together. Old lodge line ups or just about anything. I want to create an online scrapbook and montage showing the great history of Roy Stanley.

I would also like to get some of your personal stories. What was the discussion like when trying to accomplish something, or a funny anecdote from days long past. Or what is your personal view of Freemasonry and Roy Stanley in particular.

You can bring any materials you have up to the lodge and I can pick them up there, you can email them to me to help and expedite the process. My email address is on the contact page of the site as well as the Senior Wardens and the Secretaries. And for those of you who do not know the lodge web address is www.RoyStanley.org.

We have always known that Roy Stanley was the greatest lodge in Texas, let's make it's web site the best on the web.
